Public Liability and Occupiers Liability

You have rights to damages in the event you sustain an injury on public or private property.

The law covering claims of this kind imposes duties of care to owners of both residential and commercial property to persons to provide a duty to take such care as is reasonable in the circumstances to protect persons from risks of injury which can be foreseen and avoided.

This area of law is complex and continually evolving. Further, cases of this kind are invariably vigorously defended by insurers who generally are reluctant to take your claim seriously unless court action is commenced.
